A frightful story comes from Bautzen, in Saxony, concerning the execution of a man named Botune, who had been sentenced to death for murder. It appears that at the time of the execution many thousands of persons were present, and watched while the condemned man mounted the scaffold. Arrived at the top of the steps to the guillotine, Botune, instead of submitting to the attentions of the executioneer, engaged in a frightful struggle with him and his assistants. He bit all who came near him, and fought furiously, crying out from time to time to the public to save him, and asserting his innocence. A fresh batch of men came to the assistance of the executioner, but even then it was impossible to get the condemned man under the fatal knife. At last, after a quarter of an hour passed in vehement struggles, an exceptionally strong bedeau de justice seized him by his hair and threw him down. He was tied with the leather thongs usually employed for the purpose, but more than once broke them to pieces. At last he was secured, after a terrible struggle, and having been fastened to the plank, was thrust under the blade of the guillotine, which fell immediately and ended the strife. His last words were, "Human justice is butchery."

Terrible Steamboat Disaster—One Hundred Lives Lost.—Memphis, November 25, 1865.—A collision occurred last night between the steamers Niagara and Post Boy, on the Mississippi river, seven miles above Helena. The Niagara sunk in twenty feet water, and one hundred deck passengers, mostly discharged colored soldiers, were drowned.—The cabin passengers and crew were all saved. The Niagara was valued at $130,000. She was not insured. There were 200 tons of freight on board. The Post Boy was uninjured.

Consumption of Snails in Paris.—The consumption of the escargot, or common snail, has within the last few years increased to such an enormous extent at Paris that they enter into serious competition with oysters at the wineshops in that metropolis. It is estimated that the breeding-grounds in the provinces of Poitou, Burgundy, and Champagne now send every day no less than 400,000 dozens of snails to the Paris markets, where they readily find purchasers. Mr. Payen, the celebrated analytical chemist, demonstrated that these molusca, when boiled furnish a substance infinitely richer in nutritive matter than that of oysters.

Choice of Friend.—We should ever have it fixed in our memories that by the characters of those whom we choose for our friends our own is likely to be formed, and we certainly be judged of by the world. We ought, therefore, to be slow and cautious in contracting intimacy; but when a virtuous friendship is once established, we must ever consider it as a sacred engagement.

To the Point.—The Alexandria Gazette says: The following is a verbatim et literatim report of the evidence given in the Magistrates' Court yesterday, by a negro man named Doctor Jones, who accused another negro, named Washington, of stealing his watch:

"I'se name Doctor Jones—name so cause old master named Doctor. I was sittin in de shop; my watch hanging up on the wall. Dat nigger (pointing to Washington,) come in—sot down—got up—went out—an de watch was dismissed. Dat's all I know about it."

Men who boas' loudly that they never show quarter, in times of danger are certain to show none but their hind ones.

S. D. POOL, PRINCIPAL.

HAVING made arrangements with the Directors of WAYNE FEMALE COLLEGE, the undersigned will open a School in the School room of the College for the education of Young Ladies and Girls, Monday, the 9th of October, 1865.

An experience of more than twelve years, prior to the war, justifies the belief that he will give entire satisfaction to those who send to the school. For the present, his own personal attention alone will be given to the several classes—additional Teachers being employed as the wants of the School may demand.

The School will be divided into three classes: Primary, Junior and Senior.

BRANCHES TAUGHT.

IN PRIMARY CLASS.—Spelling, Reading, Writing, and the five fundamental rules of Arithmetic.

JUNIOR CLASS.—The same as in Primary, with the addition of English Grammar, Composition, Geography, and advanced Arithmetic and History.

SENIOR CLASS.—Algebra, Geometry, Natural Philosophy, the Elements of Chemistry and Composition.

Pupils in Junior or Senior classes, at the option of parents and guardians, can add French, Latin or Greek to their other studies.

MUSIC.

There are several excellent Teachers in the place and the necessary time will be given to suit pupils as desire to take lessons.

BOARDING.

For the present, the Principal is not prepared to take boarding scholars; but he will take great pleasure in securing excellent board in private families, for those who desire to send their children from the country.

TERMS:

Per Session of twenty-one weeks. Primary Class, $16; Junior, $24; Senior, $32.

French, Latin or Greek, $5 each, extra.

Pupils received at any time during session and charged from date of entry.

No pupils received for a less time than half session, and no deduction made for absence except in cases of protracted sickness.

Payments quarterly and in advance.

Valuable and Desirable Property
FOR SALE.

ON the Twentieth day of December, the subscribers will sell at Auction, for cash, the site on the Cape Fear River at Fayetteville, where the Clarendon Bridge formerly stood, including Toll House, the Land on both sides of the River, Piers, and whatever is left of the property. The sale will be made on the express condition that the purchaser is to build a new, double track, covered bridge, the length of which will be six hundred feet or thereabout.

The site is very desirable to persons having the necessary capital for the work to be done. There is no bridge now on the river. The investment of money in this contemplated work, so near as it is to a large market town, must prove highly remunerative.

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 2, 1865.

THE LEGISLATURE.—The proceedings of the Legislature on Thursday present nothing of a special character beyond the election of Hons. R. M. Pearson, W. H. Battle and E. G. Reade, as Judges of the Supreme Court of the State.

The Senate refused to concur in the proposition of the House to go into an election of U. S. Senators.

Nothing done in the Senate yet on constitutional amendment.

The message of Gov. Holden was sent in at 12 o'clock and read, as follows:

GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE.

Gentlemen of the Senate and of the House of Commons:

I regret that a severe and painful illness, from which I am still suffering, has prevented me from preparing for your consideration a more full and detailed statement of the condition of public affairs, and of the progress which has been made in restoring North Carolina to her natural position as a member of the Union under the Federal Constitution. I am gratified to state, however, that my health is improving, and I hope soon to be in a condition to impart to you at length any information in my possession in relation to public affairs, which you may desire.

The progress thus far made in the work of restoration has been attended by a great labor; and I have been very anxious to discharge my duties as Provisional Governor, under the instructions of the President, in such a way as to promote the best interests of the State, and to insure a restoration of our constitutional relations to the Federal Government at the earliest practicable period.

We can entertain no hope that confidence and activity in business will be revived, or that our people can even begin to renew their former prosperity, until the State shall have been fully restored to her place in the Union. The greatest good of the present and of all coming generations, will be embodied in the practical fact that we are once more a part of the freest, proudest and most prosperous government in the world. As long as this fact is unrealized, the State must necessarily languish in all its interests, and instead of availing herself of her great natural advantages and springing forward in competition with other States in the career of wealth and prosperity, she will become more and more impoverished.

Let us, then, omit nothing which may be deemed necessary, or even expedient, to attain the great end we have in view, to wit: its constitutional relations to the common government. Let the divisions and differences which exist among us, and which are calculated to obstruct the work of reconstruction, disappear under the influence of a more intense and a more devoted patriotism. He who does anything now, whether by word or act, calculated or intended to embarrass the national administration, or to obstruct the work of restoration, incurs a grave responsibility and can be no friend either to the Federal Union or to North Carolina.

The Convention of the people of this State, recently in session, very wisely ordained,

1st. That the so-called ordinance of secession, adopted the 20th day of May, 1861, "is now, and has at all times been, null and void;" and that "the ordinance of the Convention of the State of North Carolina, ratified on the 21st day of November, 1789, which adopted and ratified the constitution of the United States and also all acts and parts of acts of the General Assembly, ratifying and adopting amendments to the said Constitution are now, and at all times since the adoption and ratification thereof have been in full force and effect."

2d. That "slavery and involuntary servitude, otherwise than for crimes, whereof the party shall have been duly convicted, shall be"—is hereby forever prohibited within the State."

3rd That it shall be the duty of the General Assembly to provide for the payment of all debts and obligations created or incurred by the State otherwise than in aid of the late rebellion. But that "all debts and obligations created or incurred by the State, in aid of the late rebellion, directly or indirectly, are void, and no General Assembly, of this State shall have power to assume or provide for the payment of the same, or any portion thereof.

These are safe and proper steps in the right direction and such as were expected of the representatives of a loyal people.

But in order to remove the last obstacle in the way of restoration, it is indispensable that the Legislature shall ratify the amendment to the Constitution of the United States prohibiting the existence of slavery throughout the United States. I herewith transmit to you a communication on this subject, from Hon. William H. Seward, Secretary of State, and also a certified copy of the joint resolution which has passed Congress on the subject, approved February 1st, 1865.

I beg leave, gentlemen, most respectfully and earnestly to urge on you the propriety of ratifying this amendment unanimously, at the earliest practicable moment. It is the wish of our best friend, the President of the United States, that this shall be done. Such ratification cannot fail to hasten our restoration to the Union, and thus lay anew for us and our children the foundations of permanent prosperity and glory.

Under the provisions of an ordinance passed by the Convention at its late session, I have appointed the Hon. B. F. Moore, the Hon. Richard S. Donnell, and William S. Mason, Esq., Commissioners to prepare and report to the Legislature a system of laws upon the subject of freedmen, and to designate such laws and parts of laws now in force, as should be repealed, in order to conform the statutes of the State to the ordinance of the Convention abolishing the institution of slavery.

In conclusion, permit me to assure you, gentlemen, of my readiness and anxiety to co-operate with you cordially and zealously in everything which may be calculated to relieve our unfortunate and beloved State from her present depressed and unhappy condition.

With sentiments of high respect, I have the honor to be, &c.

W. W. HOLDEN,
Provisional Governor.

Raleigh, Nov. 30th, 1865.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

H. WEIL & BRO., have a large assortment of useful as well as fancy goods suitable for Christmas presents.

FINLAYSON & BRO., Commission & Forwarding Merchants, Wilmington, N. C. These gentlemen were citizens of Wayne, and we hope will be remembered by our citizens when they have business in Wilmington.

We return our thanks to Mr. Price, the obliging agent of the National Express Company, for files of late Baltimore papers.

THE CHARLESTON COURIER.—This old and valuable journal, which suffered so severely by the war, and at its close reappeared only to become the victim of a disastrous fire, is again out, with enlarged dimensions and improved appearance. It is now published by the old firm of A. S. Willington & Co., under whose auspices and the late senior partner, it has been conducted for the last half century.

Breaths there a man with soul so dead,
That never to himself hath said——
My County paper now I'll take,
Both for my own and family's sake.
If such there be, let him repent,
And have the "News" to him sent;
And if he'd pass a happy winter
He in advance should pay the printer.

The Coming Session of Congress--The Roll of Members.

Washington, Nov. 27.—On inquiry it is ascertained that but comparitively few of the credentials of the members elect of the House of Representatives have been received, either from the late insurrectionary or the other States. Therefore the clerk of the House has not yet prepared a list of the members, and will not probably do so before Saturday. No credentials have been received from the late insurrectionary States excepting from Virginia in part, and Tennessee complete. The position of the clerk of the House is understood to be as follows: That he is merely to administer the law of 1863 in placing the names of members elect upon the roll, his course in doubtful points being controlled by the precedents set by the House in the absence of judicial ruling as to the construction of the law. Whatever defects may be discovered can of right be remedied by the House. In addition to the validity and formality of the credentials, should these facts appear, the only other question which could occur would be whether the States lately in rebellion are now in full relation to the other States, in the sense contemplated by the law of 1863, or in different language, whether they are completely restored to their rights and privileges in the Union. The question as to whether certain members elect can or can not take the test oath will not properly occur until after the election of speaker, whose duty it is to administer it to the other members before proceeding further in the business of organization.

THE FIFTY MILLION LOAN.

The Treasury Department is delivering the bonds of the fifty million five twenty (conversion) loan at the rate of $1,500,000 a day. Between nine and ten millions only remain to be supplied to subscribers.

REPORT OF SECRETARY OF THE TREASURY.

The Secretary of the Treasury makes no secret of the fact that his forthcoming report on the finances will be merely an enlargement of the views recently presented in his Fort Wayne speech.

THE WEST INDIA SQUADRON.

Commodore Palmer has received preparatory orders to take command of the West India squadron, which is now being formed.

PAYMENT OF INDIAN ANNUITIES.

George C. Whiting, Esq., acting chief clerk of the Department of the Interior, has been dispatched by the Secretary as special agent of the department to visit the Miami Indians, of Indiana, and pay them their annuities. He left the city yesterday for that purpose.

THE RIO GRANDE SENSATION.

The government has received no intelligence confirmatory of the recently published exciting reports from the Rio Grande involving our troops with the French. All the volunteer troops in Central Texas have been paid off preliminary to their places being supplied by regulars.

Intensely Loyal.—A Colonel, brother of a Major General, who had "excellent chances" in the South for about six months, was found to be worth seven millions dollars at his death. His brother thinks the war closed out two years too soon.

The Grand Lodge of Masons of the State of North Carolina, will hold their annual communication in Raleigh, on the 4th of December.

The North Carolina Annual Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, meets in Raleigh, on the 6th of December.

FROM WASHINGTON.

The Baltimore Sun of the 28th, in a special dispatch from Washington, says:

"It is suggested by some shrewd republicans that the article in the Chronicle this morning indicates a clawing off by Mr. Colfax from his extreme radical position. It is stated, too, that Mr. McPherson is extremely reticent as to what course he shall take. Some of the ultras are so violent that they are unwilling that the Southern members shall go upon the floor of the House to present their credentials, as has ever been practiced by persons holding certificates from Governors, or to meet their contestants. So discourteous a proceeding cannot aid radicalism, because any member may move to put names on the roll, and hereon might arise debate or proceedings would last for days or weeks, as in the New Jersey contested election case. As nothing is usually done in Congress in the way of legislation until after Christmas, the time proceeding that date should be devoted to the discussion, if there is to be any, of the cases of the Southern claimants for seats. The Colfax radical programme, to be consistent, would exclude Tennessee representatives, and thus the President is set down as from a State which is not in the Union.

An able letter, (introduced to the public by Senator Foot, of Vermont,) of Judge Redfield, of Boston, takes the ground squarely that none of the States, late the scenes of insurrection, are responsible as States, and nothing but individuals in States are amenable to law as the scene of treason. The reasoning is clear, cogent, compact and convincing. Not so powerful an argument has before proceeded from any quarter. I doubt whether Mr. Colfax is getting much backing from members who have not yet reached Washington. A great number of leading republicans here are opposing his ideas.

As the President is in communication with Gov. Humphreys, of Mississippi, the presumption is that the story is not correct that the former had directed Judge Sharkey to go on and act as Governor. It is to be observed by the letter of the President to Humphreys, he limits remarks as to rights of negroes to protecting such rights by the laws. It does not suggest negro suffrage. ALPHA."

Hon. Wm. A. Graham of North Carolina.

We share the regret which we feel persuaded all good citizens will feel at the announcement that Hon. Wm. A Graham has found himself constrained to decline taking his seat in the Senate of North Carolina, because of the failure of the President to extend to him that amnesty which has been so widely and wisely offered to the Southern people.

Gov. Graham was elected by the unanimous vote of the people of Orange, and enjoys generally throughout the State a popularity almost as flattering.

The Raleigh Sentinel suggests that the failure of Mr. Graham to receive his pardon may be owing to the refusal of Gov. Holden to endorse his application.

On what ground! Can it be to defeat a rival for the United States Senatorship?

On general grounds no Southern man more richly deserves the favorable consideration of the President. In the fierce conflict of the Presidential election of 1860, Gov. Graham was conspicuous for his decided hostility to the position and objects of the Secessionists. In the early part of 1861, he was among those who led the people of North Carolina to cast so large a vote, not only against Secession, but even against the holding of a Convention which might lead to Secession, and only yielded when the action of Virginia left North Carolina scarcely any other alternative.

He was a member of the Confederate Senate, but was among the leading men to uphold the rights of the people against the dangerous encroachments of power. His opposition to the suspension of the privilege of habeas corpus endeared him to all men who favor the supremacy of law.

In the session of '64-'5, Gov. Graham was known as one of the "Union Senators," and we remember well the odium heaped on him, in certain quarters, because of his persistent efforts towards negotiation, and we know likewise the grief he felt and expressed at the failure of the Hampton Roads Conference, from which, he, in common with thousands, hoped so much. That failing, he advocated the scheme of separate State action, so earnest was he to restore to this distracted and desolated people the blessings of peace.

Surely, few men deserve more richly the favor of Mr. Johnson, and we hope he will soon place him in a position in which his character and talents may be of service to his fellow-citizens.—Pet. Index.

Religious Persecution in Missouri.—The "test oath" in Missouri continues to cause much trouble among all denominations in that State. Recently the Rev. Mr Rush, a talented Methodist clergyman, stationed at Plattsburg, undertook to preach without swearing and was arrested. He was bought before a magistrate and was arraigned with all the apparent solemnity of law, his accuser, it is alleged, being one of those sort of modern men or politicians who are afflicted with "radicalism on the brain." A letter from that place, describing the scenes attending the examination of the accused, says:

Mr. Rush defended his own case in a masterly and impressive manner, asserting that he would prove recreant to his calling if he did not preach the gospel, though prisons, stakes and faggots threatened him at every utterance; that the persecution of Christians was no new thing, and that the command of Christ to go into all the world and preach was as binding now as it was in the days of Nero and Caligula. He took up the new Constitution and showed from the bill of rights that his right to worship God according to the dictates of his own conscience was one of the inalienable rights. For two hours he held his audience spell bound, inveighing against a tyranny that would disgrace any country in any age of the world. There were, however, present a small number of radicals, who seemed pleased at having a victim to torture, and threatened that if Mr. Rush was not put in jail they would have Governor Fletcher send up a squad of soldiers to do duty at the churches, and prevent any but radicals from preaching. At the conclusion of the argument the examining justices required the prisoner to give bond in the sum of one thousand dollars for his appearance at the next term of the Circuit Court.

A Dutchman in Albany, some time ago, went out to his milkman in the street, with a dish in each hand, instead of one, as usual. The dispenser of attenuated milk asked him if he wished to fill both vessels. The Dutchman replied, suiting the action to the word, "Dis fur the milluk and dis for de water, and I will mix dem so as to shute myself.

The Underwriter's Policy
OF INSURANCE,
IS ISSUED BY
M. D. CRATON,
AGENT,
GOLDSBORO,' N. C.

ONE POLICY of Insurance, issued by FOUR COMPANIES, which is made to meet the necessities of the business community, by securing, with dispatch, large lines of Insurance with reliable Companies, upon UNIFORM, PLAIN, AND SIMPLE CONDITIONS, thereby obviating the necessity of applying to various separate Offices for Insurances for the amount they are severally able to accept; and of holding numerous separate Policies, the conditions and written portions of which rarely agree, rendering it difficult for the assured to become familiar with and harmonize their various conflicting conditions.

By the conditions of the UNDERWRITER'S POLICY but ONE SET OF PAPERS is required to prove a loss to the several Companies insuring under it, thereby making the adjustment simple and expeditious.

The Cash Assets of each Company issuing the Underwriter's Policy of Insurance exceed HALF A MILLION OF DOLLARS, making a security in the aggregate of

THREE MILLION DOLLARS

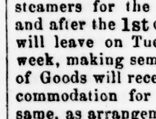
PIONEER AND COMMODORE ADAMS,



WILL leave New Berne for Norfolk on TUESDAY of each week at 8 o'clock, A. M., connecting with the different lines of steamers for the above named points. On and after the 1st day of December next they will leave on Tuesday and Friday of each week, making semi-weekly trips. Shippers of Goods will receive every facility and accommodation for the transportation of the same, as arrangements have been made with the different companies to forward goods to this line at low rates and without delay. Each of these Steamers are capable of carrying Two Hundred and Fifty Tons of Freight through the canal without difficulty, as they were built expressly for the trade. They are fitted up with State Rooms and Berths capable of accommodating Thirty-Five passengers. Every attention will be paid to the comfort of passengers, who will not be subject to the inconvenience of transfer to other vessels, but will be taken through direct without change.

The tables of the Steamers are liberally supplied with the best the market affords.—Families travelling will find it to their interest to take this line, as they will thereby escape the danger and discomfort of a sea route, and the fatigue of railroad travel.

On the 15th of December next, if the business of the line warrants it, the Steamer WILLIAMS will be put on the route, and tri-weekly trips will be made.

For freight or passage apply to WHITFORD, DILL & Co., New Berne, N. C.

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 2, 1865.

THE STAMMERING WIFE.

BY JOHN G. SAXE.

When deeply in love with Miss Emily Pryne,
I vowed, if the maiden would only be mine,
I would always endeavor to please her.
She blushed her consent, tho' the stuttering lass
Said never a word, except "You're an ass—
An ass—an as-siduous teaser!"

But when we were married I found to my ruth,
The stammering lady had spoken the truth:
For often, in obvious dudgeon,
She'd say—if I ventured to give her a jog
In the way of reproof—"You're a dog—you're a dog—
A dog—dog matic curmudgeon!"

And once when I said "We can hardly afford
This extravagant style, with our moderate hoard,"
And hinted we ought to be wiser,
She looked, I assure you, exceedingly blue,
And fretfully cried, "You're a Jew—you're a Jew—
A very ju-dicious adviser!"

Again, when it happened that wishing to shirk
Some rather unpleasant and arduous work,
I begged her to go to a neighbor,
She wanted to know why I made such a fuss,
And saucily said, "You're a cus—cus—cus—
You were always ac-customed to labor!"

Out of temper at last with the insolent dame,
And feeling that madame was greatly to blame
To scold me instead of caressing,
I mimicked her speech—like a churl that I am—
And angrily said, "You're a dam—dam—dam—
A dam age instead of a blessing!"

PROSPECTUS.

THE
NORFOLK VIRGINIAN.

THE undersigned propose to commence, on or about the 15th day of November, the publication in this city, of a first class Daily Paper, under the name of The Norfolk Virginian. Apart from the usual features of journalism, we design that the Virginian shall be especially devoted to the advancement of the prosperity of Norfolk and her sister city, and the large section of Virginia whose interests are common with theirs—Under a uniform system of partial legislation—under the unfounded jealousy of other cities, but, far more than all else, under the apathy, indifference and want of energy of her own people, Norfolk has gradually dwindled from the first to the last place among the great Atlantic ports, until in domestic trade, in foreign commerce, and in the wealth and enterprize devoted to both, she is of less importance to-day than she was forty years ago.

We shall labor to convince our fellow citizens throughout the Commonwealth, that Virginia can never be a wealthy and powerful State until she fosters commerce. We shall endeavor to prove to the people of other cities in the State, that the prosperity of Norfolk is their prosperity, her interests theirs, her decline their loss. But, chiefly shall we endeavor to convince the capitalists, the merchants, the professional men, the mechanics and artizans, of Norfolk and Portsmouth, that it lies with them to say whether with all their unsurpassed advantages, with two lines of railroad penetrating the heart of Virginia and whose navigation to its very falls is rarely suspended, with canals connecting them with the most fertile portion of North Carolina, with a harbor confessedly, in its spaciousness, its safety, its ease of access and its uniform accessibility without an equal on the North Atlantic coast, these cities shall continue to be a mere dependency of Baltimore, instead of taking rank, as they deserve, with the foremost marts on the continent.

To display these advantages, to stimulate immigration, to attract capital, and to awaken the energy and enterprise of our fellow-citizens, are objects to which we shall devote whatever of zeal, ability, experience and capital we can command.

The Virginian will give a cord'al support to the magnanimous policy of the President. Called suddenly, and under trying circumstances, to the Chief Magistracy, regarded with jealousy in one section and suspicion in the other, he has acquitted himself of the arduous task before him with a courage, a liberality, a clear perception of duty, and a broad patriotism which commend him to the frank and generous support of the Southern people. That support the Virginian will cordially extend to him

Ardently attached to our native State, we did our several parts in her defence, with whatever ability we possessed, when by solemn act of her people in Convention assembled, she severed her connection with the Union. We are ashamed of no act done in that cause. We accept however, frankly and fully, the results of this war. We admit that slavery is destroyed—not by proclamation, for there is no such power or source of law—but by the final fiat of arms, and we concede our duty to conform our legislation to this great change. Since it has been determined by force of arms that Virginia must live in the Union, we hold it to be the duty of all to see that she is of the Union. We hold that military rule is foreign to the genius of our government and the spirit of our people, and utterly incompatible with liberty, and that its exercise is justified alone by temporary and exceptional conditions and circumstances, which it is the highest duty of good citizenship to remove as soon as possible. We hold test oaths to be unconstitutional, tyranical, subversive of the sanctity of a civil oath, a fatal and facile engine of oppression. We contend that forty centuries of experiment, in every possible situation, have failed to furnish one argument or fact evincing the capacity of the negro for equal participation with white men in a republican government. Finally, we conceive it to be our duty as citizens to cultivate friendly political relations with the citizens of all portions of our common Union.

To these views the support of the Virginian shall be given, and as we have been frank in the expression of our opinions on these matters, now the prominent topics of political controversy, so shall we in the future, meet, with old Virginia plainness of speech the issues that arise.

We have secured the services of James Barron Hope, Esq., as Associate Editor, a gentleman whose elegant pen and thorough knowledge of, and devotion to, the interests of Virginia need no commendation at our hands. We shall engage also a competent corps of reporters and correspondents, and endeavor in every way to make the Virginian worthy of the support of this large and intelligent community.
